The "Old Con Game"

It was a cup of coffee on the stool the day and night that unbeknown to most of us in Crawford County that we were visited by a live con man from downstate last Tuesday.

He came in with his carpet bag and set up shop downtown and visited several county and city personalities. He said he was a "pitch" man. They said he was selling something that the community wouldn't buy, but he said he sold these representatives for the whole deal. Well, he didn't really sell them. I would rather say he conned them into this part of his. They said he was a smooth talker, but he didn't talk much. He just asked questions, and patted these fellows on the head.

Well, he opened his sample case then and I'll admit it he didn't sell everything including samples. The way I heard it, the fellows from Grayling and Crawford County had their pockets picked, turned inside out, but they had both hands full of cash. They couldn't hold anymore civic pride and community spirit and they had a real education in how to sell something that nobody wanted.

By the way, this fellow also left Crawford County with a Michigan Week Program.

The afternoon was spent playing bingo and other games. Prizes were won by Jeanine Sorenson, Jean Love, Andrea Brown, Rex Hunter, Jerry Barber, John Libcke, Donna Morancy, Betsy Neiderer, Carl Dean Hanson, Rennie Larson and Pat Manion. The table was very attractively arranged with groups of large sea shells, which had been gathered from the beaches of Florida, centered by a huge four layered birthday cake, with tall pink tapers at each end of the table. Additional small tables were also decorated in the same manner. At each little guest's place were smaller sea shells attached to the place cards, as favors, for them to take home. Tommy was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

MOON DETERMINES EASTER SEASON

ANN ARBOR — The moon will mark two aspects of this year's Easter season, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel Losh.

The full moon always determines the date of Easter, but this year an eclipse of that full moon will darken the Good Friday sky.

Easter falls on the Sunday after the first full moon after the vernal equinox. This year that full moon will appear on Friday (April 12).

"At this same full moon a total lunar eclipse will take place," Prof. Losh said. "Although not nearly as dramatic as a total eclipse of the sun, the passage of the moon through the earth's long shadow is fascinating to watch. This particular eclipse will be observable from the time of its first entry into the shadow until its final emergence."

The eclipse will begin at 10:11 p.m. and last until 1:25 a.m. Saturday.

Soon after the eclipse begins, the moon's eastern edge will be noticeably dimmer. This darkened area will gradually spread over the moon's surface until 11:23, when the moon will be entirely in eclipse. Fifty minutes later at 12:13 a.m. it will begin to emerge. It will then take more than an hour for the moon to leave the shadow completely at 1:25 a.m.

During the partial phase, area covered by the earth's shadow will appear darker than the remaining section of the moon. During the total stage, however, the moon will be visible.

Spring's first full moon has determined Easter's date since 325 A.D., Dr. Losh explained. "The church fathers gathered in the Council of Nicea decreed that Easter should be celebrated on the first Sunday after a full moon, probably to enable pilgrims going to the Holy City the advantage of moonlight for safe travel by night as well as by day."

"The Easter date can fluctuate over a period of 35 days, coming just after the equinox to as late as April 25. In 1943 Easter occurred on that late date, but it won't be that late again until 3638."

Careers Aboard in Agri-Business

By Willard Rosecrance
County Extension Natural Resource Agent

Robert J. Eggert, Ford Motor Company marketing research executive has been named director of Michigan State University's agri-business program.

Eggert will administer the new business major which will be offered jointly through the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, and the College of Business Administration. He will also serve as technical advisor to agricultural business students.

Before Ford executive Eggert received a degree in agriculture from Michigan State University, he was a business major at the University of Michigan. He did advanced work from both colleges provided by the agri-business major or should obtain a computer degree in the employment field.

A firm background is not essential for a highly successful business career. Young men and women are needed in marketing, research, in 4-H work, in farm accounting and in many other challenging areas.

Further information can be obtained from your Cooperative Extension Service, County Building, Rosecrance.

CARD OF THANKS

The Foundation is making direct cash grants to Michigan State University to help finance special 4-H youth projects under 4-H staff direction and supervision. The Foundation is financed entirely by volunteer contributions on an annual basis. It has no endowments or other significant sources of annual income.

Major support is provided by a number of sustaining donors, including the American Dairy Association of Michigan, Clark Equipment Company, Consumers Power Company, Detroit Edison Company, Gerber Baby Foods Fund, Hazel Park Racing Association, Inc., Michigan Banking Industry, Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Michigan Division Woman's Farm and Garden Association, Michigan Farm Bureau, Michigan Farmer, Michigan Milk Producers Association, Rapids-Standard Foundation, Sears-Roebuck Foundation, and Upjohn Company.

The 4-H youth division of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University develops and directs programs which help interested young people achieve this. Nearly 60 staff members work full time throughout the state on 4-H programs.

Organized and incorporated as a non-profit educational foundation by a group of Michigan businessmen in 1922, the 4-H Club Foundation of Michigan helps to finance, with private contributions, special projects that will strengthen the size and effectiveness of the 4-H youth programs of the state. ### LOCAL STUDENTS ATTEND WORKSHOP

Mrs. Joseph Stripe and some 40 Spanish students attended a workshop at the Northwood Institute in Midland. Ten parents accompanied the group.

The workshop was presented by well-known Jose Greco and his Spanish ballet troupe from 3 to 5 p.m. He talked about music and how many classical and modern compositions are really based on original folk music, then directed his pianist to play the simple theme in illustration of the basic tune and its eventual elaboration. Senor Greco did the same for dancing, showing how a simple folk dance is the base for many more elaborate ones. He also explained some of the other facets of the dance, such as castanets and heel work.

Following the workshop the students had a box lunch at the Student Union, then went to the central intermediate auditorium for a full Greco concert from 7 to 9 p.m. They found the costumes to be gorgeous, and performers who seemed to take pleasure in what they were presenting. Many of the students managed to get autographs from the company, and felt the whole proceedings to be top-notch.

A total of 1,342 students from as far as Milwaukee, Wis., and Findlay, Ohio as well as Michigan attended the concert, and all showed their enthusiasm.

AN IRONY

The following is taken from an editorial, "The Unwatched Rampart," by Park Riker, in the October 1967 issue of Iowa Municipalities.

It is an irony of American life that people who count themselves as patriots so far as their country and even their state are concerned are astonishingly indifferent — and often disloyal — to their own community and particularly to their local self-government.

Who are these who have no allegiance to their own community?

There are, of course, the deprived ones who feel no loyalty because they have no reason to be loyal. Obviously, neglect, discrimination and injustice breed resentment, not love. But there are others who are disloyal with no just or sensible reason for their disloyalty.

There are the indifferent ones who greedily claim the benefits of community services but want no part of the burdens.

There are the cynical ones whose stock in trade is downgrading the home town and the constructive people and programs within it, who eagerly snatch up every thoughtless slur and careless slander about a civic leader and speed the calumny on its way.

Finally, there are the dedicated negative ones who are, for real, against progress and taxes and everything that assures our future as a civilized people.

Who hate local self-government with a special passion whose appeal is to the narrowness, the prejudice and the self-serving greed that lies below the surface of all of us.

And these people work hard and devotedly to defeat the creative forces that are forever struggling to make our communities better places in which to live.

We do not identify them for what they are because they wear respectable clothes, recite the American creed, go to the right churches and present a facade of citizen responsibility.

Yet, knowingly or unknowingly, they are selling out our country and its ideals at the foundation level, the community level where it hurts the most.

Community disloyalty on Poplar Avenue in Middletown, U.S.A., in the final analysis, can be more damaging to our free way of life than saving comfort to a hostile, alien power.

This local rampart must be manned across the length and breadth of America if our country is to regain the strength and unity needed to sustain its greatness.

We know that the current crisis must be met at the local level. We are not asking the federal and state governments to do the job for us. We simply want them to help — as indeed they must if our efforts are to succeed — and at the least, not to hinder us.

On the face of a reasonable obligation, we are asking the federal government to make the necessary contribution to the local level.

Members absent: Ray Elsey and John Latusek. Guests: Charles Moore and Paul Thomson.

Motion by Sal Truettner, seconded by Harold Macklin, that the minutes of the last regular meeting be approved as printed. All Ayes.

There were no communications to be brought to the attention of the Board.

Because of the absence of Treasurer John Latusek, there was no treasurer's report.

It was agreed that a meeting of the Finance Committee should be held, and a budget for next year worked out covering all facets of the Chamber program.

Ken Carlisle and Charles Moore reported on their experiences at the Cleveland Travel Show. They agreed that their location with the very popular Bear Archery Booth enabled them to visit with and pass out literature to a constant flow of sports minded persons.

The Board wished to express their appreciation to the Moores and Carlises for their attendance at the show.

Ken Carlisle reported on the meeting hosted by Consumers Power Company on March 19th for the Chamber members of the region. Of the 25 invitations that were extended, 21 were in attendance.

Much was accomplished in the line of information between the Chamber members and Consumers Power.

Mr. Carlisle advised that Consumers Power would make every effort to find ways and means of augmenting the shortage of picnic grounds and campsites on the incoming trails of the Anishnabe and Manistee River systems and that close liaison could be had with the Department of Conservation for the purpose of obtaining a permit to use the state property for a picnic ground.

Mr. Carlisle advised that the Department of Conservation had been contacted and that a permit had been obtained for the use of the state property for a picnic ground.

BUSINESS

Although the war in Vietnam seemingly drags out interminably, there perhaps should be no despair, because the Vietnamese are becoming westernized or perhaps Americanized is the better term.

The very able Wall Street Journal man in Saigon recently, in evidence of this fact.

In January, which is summer in that latitude, the Vietnamese celebrate their New Year festival. It is the day of the year when the Vietnamese people are most united.

Great symbolism is attached to the quality of these melons. They should be round, dark green on the outside, deep red on the inside with a high sugar content. However, the usual native Vietnamese melon does not meet these desired attributes.

However, the always eager U.S. Foreign and Trade Office in Saigon, which since 1962 has been in Vietnam, has secured the importation of a few Vietnamese melons from the best growers in the country.

In 1963, 12 acres of Sugar Baby melons were grown. This year an estimated 3,000 acres were devoted to this melon.

For an economy which has the largest number of people per acre, the Vietnamese are doing very well.

But this is not so. In 1964, there were 100,000 people per acre. In 1965, there were 100,000 people per acre. In 1966, there were 100,000 people per acre.

Michiganders Enjoy Barbecue at "Seven Seas"

A memorable patio barbecue was held at "Seven Seas," the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Newton in Fort Myers Beach, Florida, for six Michigan couples, all of whom have recently purchased waterfront lots in Estero Bay Shores through the Newton Realty Company. They all hail from Lovell, Michigan, and they look forward to continuing as neighbors in the south as well as in the north.

Barney Creech, who is an associate of Jim Newton's in the realty concern, was chef for the steaks, assisted by his wife, Mina. Barney was largely responsible for the decision of these Michigan couples, all of whom love fishing, to settle where they can have their boats tied up to their own docks.

The couples are Mr. and Mrs. Sears Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Koernke, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon E. Belnap, Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Satchell, Mr. and Mrs. Byron C. Windiate, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Selberg.

The enthusiastic new owners have already dug in and started landscaping their property with fruit and flowering trees. Two families are starting to build their homes immediately, with others making plans to start theirs in the fall.

Boy Scout Council Merger Study Killed

A motion putting the Paul Bunyan Council, Boy Scouts of America, on record as opposing consolidation with any other Boy Scout council was given nearly unanimous approval in a roll call vote at the Council's executive board meeting Thursday evening at West Branch.

The motion, made by Merle E. Hopper, Higgins Lake, put to rest any further study to merge the seven-county Paul Bunyan Council with the Saginaw - Bay City Council.

A related motion by William Fagley, Midland, changed the name of the committee which had been exploring the possibilities of such a merger under the chairmanship of Marion "Pat" Rector to the committee for Long Range Planning and redirected its objective to match its new name.

Rector's committee reported some extensions that showed camping facilities — with some capital development, would be adequate through 1980 but based upon population and unit projection studies the Council could and should expect to be serving 1400 more boys by 1974 or 3500 more than at present by 1980. The probability of a need for a five man professional staff was mentioned.

At present the Council has only three of its prescribed four professional staff members and efforts to locate a district executive to serve the volunteers in one of the three districts have been unsuccessful.

Arthur E. Henry, Council Scout executive, reported on national headquarters' pledge to do all they could to find a qualified man.

Henry urged that members of the executive board look around them assessing the potential of any able young man that might be interested in a career as a professional Scouter.

"The possibility that we can fill this important job with a qualified local person should not be overlooked," Henry said.

August W. Benner, New Brunswick, N.J., deputy regional executive for Region 7, of which Michigan is a part, told board members they must meet the challenge of getting new people interested in Scouting, getting their advice and getting them involved — getting new blood into Scouting.

Benner presented "Breakthrough for Youth" awards to Henry, Albert Maasberg, past president of the Council, David Zluticky, district Scout executive, and announced Council Scout Commissioner Donald R. Petersen, Midland, Reverend Joseph Ablett, past District chairman, and Paul C. Johnson of Wurtsmith AFB had also earned the award but were not on hand to receive it.

Special awards from Michigan's governor, George Romney, recognizing the outstanding part played in reaching more boys with the character building program were presented by Benner to Henry, Zluticky, Duane Kenaga, Winners of the Governor's citation but not present to receive it were Carroll E. Fritts and Petersen.

Bill Perry outlined the program, entertainment and workshops to be offered at the national conference to be held in Chicago, urging all to attend.

Dr. Leslie Lambert of R. 2, East Tawas, was elected to membership in the Council on the nomination of Serge Thompson.

Kenaga told of the formation of two new Explorer posts — one a law enforcement group and the other a medical Explorer group. Membership in the Council is up 200 boys, Kenaga reported, over what they served in 1967.

Reporting the advancement committee's goal of 1500 new merit badges in 1973, Chairman Robert Bradford, argued it was a reasonable goal and one that the Council should easily meet.

H. Jack Beamish, chairman of Camping and Camp Development itemized improvements needed at the Paul Bunyan Scout Reservation, including a staff shower house, camp showers, rifle range safety measures, bringing in telephone service, attention to reservation roads, the installation of an incinerator and development of a family site — totaling approximately $12,000.

The board voted to authorize the improvements recommended by Beamish and his committee.

Other reports included Edward I. Fiedler, activities; District Scout Executive Paul D. Price, European Scout Trek in July and August of this summer; Billy Hubbard, leadership training programs being offered adult Scouters and Gilbert J. Ward, finance chairman, who saluted Standish and Beaverton for successful Scout fund raising efforts.

Beaverton, with $890 topped last year's efforts by more than $200.

Zluticky was recognized for winning the "Pacemaker" award for the fourth consecutive quarter.

SEEK PRODUCT OF THE YEAR FOR MICHIGAN WEEK

State and even national acclaim may be awaiting a local manufacturer through the state's annual Product of the Year award program, according to John Hodge, Regional Michigan Week awards Chairman.

Hodge is searching for entries and hopefully the state winner. The county winners must be chosen by Saturday, April 13, say the state rules.

"Both the winning companies and their communities benefit through the recognition they receive," said Hodge. "The award focuses wide attention on the diversification of Michigan products. We want it to focus attention this year on the products of our six-county Northern Michigan Region."

The Product of the Year Contest seeks to honor Michigan's outstanding manufactured product, but it must be a consumer product.

The entry may be either an end product or an accessory, but cannot be a product made or sold only to another manufacturer for use in a larger finished product.

The product should be a relatively new one or have a recent record of outstanding development. It might represent a technological breakthrough, an unusual development or design or be a new invention.

4-H BUSY BAKERS

We've really been busy bakers this winter and have made some real goodies. We've covered several categories including vegetables, salads, sandwiches and desserts.

Our leader, Marilyn Reed, prepared our Valentine dinner which consisted of a crown casserole, cottage cheese and fruit salad, milk and cupcakes for dessert. We played several games and the winner of the treasure hunt was Nancy Funck.

We would like to thank the ladies of the Woman's Club for having our group prepare their snack lunch and we are happy they enjoyed it.

On April 13 we are planning on having a bake sale at Glen's. We're hoping for a sell out again. We've had two visitors, Sarah Keir and Lisa Lepsey.

Pfc. Patrick Johnson Serving in Vietnam

U.S. ARMY, VIETNAM (ART-NC) — Army Private First Class Patrick B. Johnson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Johnson, 708 Vain St., Grayling, is participating in "Operation Truong Cong Dinh" in Vietnam with other members of the 9th Infantry Division.

Located in the Mekong Delta region south of Saigon, the allied counteroffensive also includes the 11th Regiment of the Republic of Vietnam's Seventh Army, as well as American Naval and Air Cavalry units.

Named after a Vietnamese patriot, the operation is designed to drive the communists away from the major population centers and keep traffic moving on Route 4, the vital lifeline between Saigon and the southernmost region of the delta.

So far the operation has accounted for over 500 Viet Cong dead and has shoved the enemy away from My Tho, the capital of Binh Truong Province. Pfc. Johnson, whose wife, Patricia, lives at 805 Plum St., Grayling, is a radio operator in Company C, 2nd Battalion of the division's 60th Infantry. He entered the Army in August 1967, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was stationed at Ft. McClellan, Ala., before arriving in Vietnam in February of this year. Johnson has been awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge.

The private attended Grayling High School and was employed by Novak Construction, Cadillac.

Moose Lodge Activities

With a light turnout of voters Saturday Dick Johnson was elected governor, Art Stephenson junior governor, Bill Holzman, prelate, Walt Confer treasurer, and Larry Evans trustee for three years. The new officers take over their duties May 1. It was one of the lightest turnouts of voters in recent years. This was a regular election and only 44 votes were cast. The Legion Club had a very nice turnout Sunday for their first Father Son Breakfast. There were 15 members and 15 boys present.

The next enrollment will be Saturday April 20 at 8:00 p.m. and will be done by our own Degree Team. Prior to the enrollment, starting at 5:00 p.m. a ham and chicken dinner will be served by members of the Fellowship Degree.

The following week the Degree Team will enter state ritual competition at the Saginaw Lodge at 10:00 a.m. Sunday April 28.

The East Michigan Legion No. 107 will hold their first at Midland Lodge April 21.

At the enrollment on April 26 it is planned that a sports movie will be shown. The subject of the movie will not be told at this time however it should be very interesting.
